BURNS OUTVOTED AND OUTWITTED

IRVING HOWBERT STILL IN CONTROL OF PORTLAND.

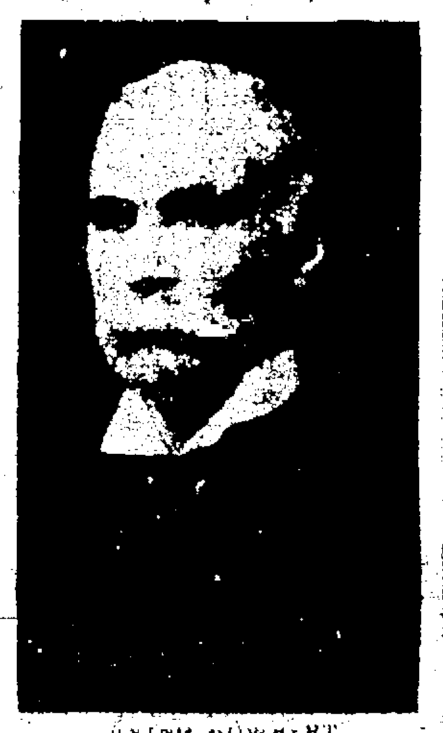
OLD DIRECTORS RETAINED

WILL MEET TODAY AND RE-ELECT FORMER OFFICERS.

HAS BEEN A SPLENDID YEAR

Net Earnings of 1907 Shown in President's Report to Have Been $553,858.2[illegible]—Future Prospects Bright. Burns Allowed to Examine Books.

Outwitted, outgeneraled and outvoted, James F. Burns of this city made a futile attempt to control the annual meeting of the Portland Gold Mining company, held yesterday at Cheyenne, Wyo. The old board of directors was re-elected and the directors will meet today at the offices of the company in this city and re-elect the present officers as follows: Irving Howbert, president; Frank G.



IRVING HOWBERT.

Who Will Today Be Re-elected President of the Portland Gold Mining Company. The Howbert Interests Controlled the Annual Meeting at Cheyenne Yesterday.

Peck, secretary, and Thomas F. Burns, treasurer. The officers, together with D. H. Rice and Carl S. Chamberlin, representing the Stratton estate interests, constitute the directorate.

Out of a total capitalization of [illegible] shares [illegible] yesterday's meeting, as follows: [illegible] the Howbert faction, [illegible] 417,812; by the Burns interests, [illegible] 627. From these figures it will be seen that Howbert and his followers voted more stock than at any meeting held during the present regime. James F. Burns voted 167,[illegible] proxies out of those representing his own holdings.

Hamma to Examine Books.

Burns also failed again yesterday in his effort to have one of his own adherents authorized to examine the books of the company. M. M. Hamma of Denver, who was recently appointed by the district court here to examine the books, was formally authorized by the stockholders at yesterday's meeting to do this work, and it is expected that he will begin within a few days.

Neither was Mr. Burns' request that the books of the company be produced

UNIONS SUBJECT TO SHERMAN ACT

OPINION OF SUPREME COURT ADVERSE TO LABOR.

HAS OVERSTEPPED ITS RIGHTS

MUST NOT INTERFERE WITH INTERSTATE BUSINESS.

BOYCOTT IS NOT PERMISSIBLE

Verdict Rendered in Loewe vs. Lawler Case—Union Had Contended That Antitrust Law Was Inapplicable to Labor Organizations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Today, for the third time within the month, the supreme court of the United States promulgated an opinion construing laws adversely to the contentions of organized labor. The first of these decisions was rendered on January 6, in the case of some railway employes who sought to secure damages under what is known as the employers' liability law, making railroads responsible for injuries resulting from the negligence of fellow servants, which law the court held to be unconstitutional. The second important ruling in this line was announced on the 23rd instant, when the Erdman arbitration act forbidding the discharge of employes because they are members of labor unions was also declared to be invalid. The verdict rendered today was in the Loewe vs. Lawler case, the latter a member of [illegible] union and the former a [illegible] of Danbury, Conn.

Unions Cannot Interfere.

The case involved the applicability of the seventh section of the Sherman antitrust law to conspiracies by labor unions to boycott articles entering into interstate trade. Under the terms of that provision the complaining party may collect three times the amount of his loss, if the charge is sustained. The union fought the case on the ground that the law was inapplicable to such organizations, but the court, whose opinion was announced by Chief Justice Fuller, failed to accept this view and in effect held that the unions could not be permitted to interfere, by boycott, with the free exchange of commerce between the states. There was no dissenting opinion.

"The averments here are that there was an existing interstate traffic between plaintiffs and citizens of other states, and that for the direct purpose of destroying such interstate traffic defendants combined not merely to prevent plaintiffs from manufacturing articles then and there intended for transportation beyond the state, but also to prevent the vendees from reselling the hats which they had imported from Connecticut, or from further negotiating with other dealers for the purchase and transportation of such hats from Connecticut to the various places of destination. So that, although some of the means whereby the interstate traffic was to be destroyed were acts within a state, and some of them were in themselves as a part of their obvious purpose and effect beyond the scope of federal authority, still, as we have seen, the acts must be considered as a whole, and the plan is open to condemnation, notwithstanding a negligible amount of intrastate business might be affected in carrying it out.

No Distinction Between Classes.

"If the purposes of the combination were, as alleged, to prevent any interstate transportation at all, the fact that the means operated at one end before physical transportation commenced, or at the other end after the physical transportation ended, was immaterial. Nor can the act in question be held inapplicable because the defendants were not themselves engaged in interstate commerce. The act made no distinction between classes. It provided that 'every' contract, combination or conspiracy in restraint of trade was illegal. The records of Congress show that several efforts were made to exempt, by legislation, organizations of farmers and laborers from the operation of the act and that all these efforts failed, so that the act remained as we have it before us."

Daniel Davenport of Bridgeport, Conn., associated with James M. Beck of New York city, as counsel for the plaintiffs in the case of Loewe vs. Lawler, today made the following statement regarding the decision:

"The United States supreme court today, by its decision in the case of Loewe vs. Lawler, declared illegal and [illegible] under the Sherman antitrust act all combinations of workingmen to boycott the interstate business of manufacturers who sell their goods in other states than that of manufacture.

"Illegal Combination."

"So long as the American Federation of Labor and other labor unions resort to the boycott as a weapon of attack upon the interstate business of manufacturers, they are illegal and criminal combinations, and it is the duty of the department of justice to proceed against them the same as against illegal and criminal combinations of capitalists. The court holds that the Sherman antitrust act applies to combinations of workingmen and of capitalists, and for the same reasons.

"This decision bears out the most important claims in the case of the Buck Stove and Range company of St. Louis, against the American Federation of Labor, in which an injunction was [illegible] by Justice Gould in [illegible] of the District of [illegible]

BAD DAY FOR DEFENSE

EVIDENCE SHOWS FIXTURE CONTRACT IRREGULAR.

New Developments in Pennsylvania State Capitol Graft—Sofas Exhibited.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 3.—Bills, invoices and furniture, showing that prior to securing the capitol furnishing contract in 1904, Contractor Sanderson sold furniture to the state on a basis of "linear foot" measurements, were put in evidence at the trial of Sanderson, former Auditor General Snyder, former State Treasurer Mathues and James M. Shumaker, former superintendent of grounds and buildings, in the Dauphin county court today. The defense fought vigorously against the introduction of this evidence, without which it would have been difficult for the commonwealth to show that his charges by the "surface foot" measurement was irregular, but was overruled by Judge Kunkel.

The commonwealth also connected the former state officers with Sanderson, in the conspiracy charge, by showing that they certified to bills containing the wrong number in the schedule upon which Sanderson was given the capitol furnishing contract. To do this, the state's lawyers showed that previous to the payment of the bill for sofas, tables and clothes trees, in the case now on trial, Sanderson had rendered bills under the proper item number in the schedule and contending that, therefore, Snyder, Mathues and Shumaker must have had knowledge at the certification of the bill, under the wrong item, was fraudulent.

One of the senate sofas, measuring 11¾ feet long, 2¾ feet deep and 6½ feet high, was brought into court as an exhibit. The commonwealth showed that a sofa six feet long sold on the "surface foot" measurement under the special schedule of 1904, by Sanderson, at the rate of $13.40, cost the state $358.80, but that in 1899 he collected only $141.05 for a 6½-foot sofa at $21.70 per foot.

SHIP BURNED AT SEA

FIFTEEN MEMBERS OF HER CREW DROWN.

Attempt to Leave Vessel After Fire Had Broken Out—Disaster Off Nova Scotian Coast.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 3.—In the midst of a wild blizzard this afternoon the steamer St. Cuthbert was burned to the water's edge off the Nova Scotian coast. Fifteen members of the crew were drowned by the swamping of a small boat in which they attempted to leave the vessel after fire had broken out yesterday. The other 27 members of the crew, including the captain, were rescued by the White Star liner Cymric. After taking off the survivors, the Cymric abandoned the burning steamer this afternoon and proceeded to Boston.

News of the destruction of the St. Cuthbert was received here tonight in a wireless message from Captain Finch of the Cymric. The message read:

"The steamer St. Cuthbert was abandoned afire Monday afternoon off the Nova Scotian coast. The Cymric stood by for nine hours during a strong, heavy gale, heavy seas and snow squalls. A life boat, in charge of the chief officer, [illegible] [illegible] injured. Fifteen of the crew were drowned Monday attempting to leave the vessel. Their boat was swamped by a heavy sea.

"Seacocks left open on St. Cuthbert, which will probably sink within twelve hours. It is now a dangerous derelict, lying in the path of European and American vessels."

PORTUGAL QUIET

COUNTRY, FOR THE MOMENT, IS AT PEACE.

FRANCO FORCED TO RESIGN

Former Dictator Has Not Been Seen on Streets Since Saturday—Program Arranged Looking to the Pacification of the People.

LISBON, Feb. 3.—Under a new regime, with a new king and the establishment of a new cabinet, Portugal seems to be, for the moment, at peace. There is an underlying current of revolutions, however, and the strictest measures are being taken to preserve order.

At noon today an official statement was given out that perfect order existed throughout Portugal.

Franco, the once dictator, was forced to resign because of the bitterness of the people against him, and the new cabinet will strive for the welfare of the fatherland under the presidency of Rear Admiral Do Amaral. Another official statement given out was to the effect that the president of the cabinet would be supported by all the groups of monarchists, who had agreed to forget previous differences.

The situation for Premier Franco, after the assassination of the king and crown prince, became impossible. During the days which preceded the tragedy and during the tumultuous manifestations on the streets, with the later discovery of vast stores of arms and bombs, public opinion backed him in his efforts to maintain order, but the murders changed the entire complexion of the situation. He has not been seen on the streets since his meeting with the king immediately after the latter's arrival from Villa Vicosa, but all possible places where he might be are closely watched and guarded.

The new cabinet, which is composed of the strongest members of various factions, but all opposed to Franco, has drawn to it a strong patriotic supporting movement. During the night Admiral Do Amaral and the chiefs of the monarchist parties held a protracted session and laid out a program looking to the pacification of the people.

Word has been received here that a British fleet, the number of vessels not [illegible], is due [illegible], bound for Lisbon.

The investigations of the police show that the murders were carefully planned. On Saturday the assassins met secretly in the back room of a cafe and there laid out every step of the plot which they were enabled to do, as all the details relating to the home coming of the king had been made public. PLEA FOR NORTHWEST

PILES WANTS $700,000 FOR SEATTLE EXPOSITION.

Washington Asks That This Amount be Used for Government Exhibit—Eloquent Address

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Senator Piles of Washington today delivered an eloquent appeal in the senate in favor of an appropriation by Congress of $700,000 for a government exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition to be held in Seattle next year.

Mr. Piles paid a glowing tribute to the resources and development of the northwest both in respect to its agricultural interests and commerce of the Pacific. He declared that the United States commerce on the Pacific is not what it should be, saying that Germany and Great Britain have paid more attention to that field of activity than have the United States. The exposition in behalf of which he spoke, he said, would promote interest in that great feature of American ascendency on the Pacific.

Mr. Piles said the people and the state of Washington had contributed $2,000,000 to the great exposition. He said the foreign exhibits at the exposition will be confined to the products of nations bordering upon the Pacific trade. The exposition will, he said, ocean and directly interested in the development of the Pacific trade. The exposition will, he said, illustrate the wonderful mineral resources of Alaska, and will enable the United States to enter into trade relations with Asia and South America and will increase commerce.

Mr. Piles pictured in vivid language the settlement of the great northwest in the face of predictions made by distinguished statesmen adverse to the practical utility of that region. The day was chiefly devoted to a consideration of bills on the calendar, several of which were passed.

At 3:57 the Senate adjourned.

EXAMINATION OF THAW

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 3.—A brief examination and observation of the mental condition of Harry K. The examination was of a general character, the physicians talking with Thaw for about half an hour.

CONTRACT WITH HYDRO COMPANY

CITY COUNCIL AND ELECTRIC PEOPLE AGREE.

SPRINGS TO HAVE NEW LIGHTS

ARC LAMPS TO BE REPLACED BY BETTER ONES.

MUST BE DONE BY JUNE 1

More Modern System to Be Installed After Five Years if Desired. Business Section to Be Illuminated Cheap in Summer.

That the Pikes Peak Hydro-Electric company shall proceed forthwith to install at the street intersections where arc lights are now in use, new arc lamps with a 7.5 ampere alternating current, as provided by the board of arbitration, and have the work completed by June 1, is one of the main provisions of a proposed contract between the city of Colorado Springs and the company, read at the regular meeting of the City Council last night and laid over for consideration at the next regular meeting.

Another stipulation is that the company must provide a copy of its load sheets every month to the city so that the current may be checked up when the bill is presented, and should the average wattage for any month fall below the specified standard, the account for that month shall be settled on the average wattage per lamp per hour actually furnished, proportionately upon the basis of $5.50 for 400 watts per lamp per hour.

City Wins Good Point.

A clause upon which the company has fought ever since the negotiation with the special Council committee were opened, but which was at last yielded, is that the city shall have the right after January 1, 1913, and prior to January 1, 1917, to compel the company to install any other system of street lighting, arc or incandescent, that may be in general use at that time in the cities of the United States and which may be more modern than the system in use by the company. The cost of the new system is to be determined by a board of arbitrators similar to the board which arbitrated the controversy last year.

One of the features in the agreement between the city and the company which may be considered as specially favorable to the city is that the company agrees to furnish the light for the illumination of the business district of the city during the tourist season at the extremely low rate of two cents per kilowatt-hour. The company first demanded five cents per kilowatt-hour for this service, finally came down to three cents and stuck there for several weeks, at last agreeing to the two-cent rate.

City to Pay Its Bills

The city on its part agrees to pay its bills now due the company, the same to be computed upon the basis adopted by the board of arbitration in making its award.

The contract is signed by George Bullock, president and C. E. Titus, secretary of the company, and awaits only adoption by the City Council and the signature of Mayor D. N. Heizer to be binding. The Council last night voted to defer final action on the matter until its next regular meeting so as to give all the members and the public generally ample time to consider and digest the terms of the contract and obtain an expression of public opinion on the matter.

Personnel of Committee.

The contract was recommended by the special committee that has had the matter under consideration for several months. The committee was composed of Mayor Heizer, C. T. Fertig, president of the council; Aldermen E. W. Frost and A. M. Holden and City Attorney W. B. Price. As in the case of the last report, made October 7, a minority report was made by A. M. Holden somewhat similar to his report at that time.

The only concession which the committee asked from the company in its report of October 7, which it failed to get in the proposed contract was the matter of a reduction of 10 per cent in the rates within the next five years. This the company objected to on the ground that it would be impossible to [illegible] by five years from now and that such a promise might be tantamount to a promise of certain of its franchise rights.

The Contract.

The contract in full follows:

This agreement made and entered into this ... day of January, A. D. 1908, by and between the city of Colorado Springs, a municipal corporation, party of the first part, hereinafter called the "city," and the Pikes Peak Hydro-Electric company, a corporation, party of the second part, hereinafter called the "company."

Chief Executive May Be Able to Accomplish Reforms Advocated in His Message, Hepburn Declares. "American People Are Back of Him."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Three of the giants of the House had their innings today. Technically, the Indian appropriation bill was under discussion, but legislation was relegated to the background while national politics occupied the stage. Before the political question cropped out the House, with next to the largest attendance of the session present, with but one dissenting vote, passed the general widow's pension bill granting a flat pension of $12 a month to the widows of all honorably discharged soldiers of the United States, who have not heretofore received the benefits of the pension law, and an increase of $4 a month for those who have benefited under the act of June 27, 1890. The law expressly waives the limitation of property holdings. The bill involves the expenditure of more than $12,000,000 annually.

Political Debate Started.

The political debate was opened by Mr. Townsend of Michigan, who in a prepared speech claimed for the Republican party credit for all national legislation in the last 50 years, of vital interest to the public.

Representative Sherwood (Dem., Ohio), in following Mr. Townsend, delivered his ideas of the President's message, politically addressing himself to its labor feature.

"For what reason did the President express his views so fully?" asked the speaker. "Was it in the interest of the candidacy of the secretary of war? Is it a spectacular and sensational appeal to divert the attention of the country from the secretary's record? The President, like the secretary of war, has a labor record of his own that is in need of patching."

A LAZY LIVER

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over-work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver complaint," or torpid liver, by its wonderful control over the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system of poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

Symptoms. If you have bitter or bad taste in the mouth, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, bitter or sour "risings" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, or biliousness, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver, or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

Of Golden Seal root, which is one of the prominent ingredients of "Golden Medical Discovery," Dr. Roberts Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, says: "Very useful as a stomachic (stomach) tonic and in atonic dyspepsia. Cures gastric (stomach) catarrh and headaches accompanying same."

Dr. Grover Coe, of New York, says: "Hydrastis (Golden Seal root) exercises an especial influence over mucous surfaces. Upon the liver it acts with equal certainty and efficacy. As a cholagogue (liver invigorator) it has few equals." Dr. Coe also advises it for affections of the spleen and other abdominal viscera generally, and for scrofulous and glandular diseases, cutaneous eruptions, indigestion, debility, chronic diarrhea, constipation, also in several affections peculiar to women, and in all chronic derangements of the liver, also for chronic inflammation of bladder, for which Dr. Coe says "it is one of the most reliable agents of cure."

Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, author of the AMERICAN DISPENSATORY, gives it a prominent place among medicinal agents, reiterates all the foregoing writers have said about it, as does also Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati. Dr. Scudder says: "It stimulates the digestive processes and increases the assimilation of food. By these means the blood is enriched, * * * the consequent improvement on the glandular and nervous systems are natural results." Dr. Scudder further says, "in relation to its general effect upon the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic, useful in all debilitated states * * *."

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of Golden Seal root: "It is a most superior remedy in catarrhal gastritis (inflammation of the stomach), chronic constipation, general debility, in convalescence from protracted fevers, in prostrating night-sweats. It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb." (This agent, Golden Seal root, is an important ingredient of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for woman's weaknesses, as well as of the "Golden Medical Discovery.") Dr. Ellingwood continues, "in all catarrhal conditions it is useful."

Much more, did space permit, could be quoted from prominent authorities as to the wonderful curative properties possessed by Golden Seal root.

We want to assure the reader that "Golden Medical Discovery" can be relied upon to do all that is claimed for Golden Seal root in the cure of all the various diseases as set forth in the above brief extracts, for its most prominent and important ingredient is Golden Seal root. This agent is, however, strongly reinforced, and its curative action greatly enhanced by the addition, in just the right proportion of Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure glycerine. All of these are happily and harmoniously blended into a most perfect pharmaceutical compound, now favorably known throughout most of the civilized countries of the world. Bear in mind that each and every ingredient entering into the "Discovery" has received the endorsement of the leading medical men of our land, who extol each article named above in the highest terms. What other medicine put up for sale through druggists can show any such professional endorsement? For dyspepsia, liver troubles, all chronic catarrhal affections of whatever name or nature, lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, the "Discovery" can be relied upon as a sovereign remedy.

A little book of extracts treating of all the several ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines, being extracts from standard medical works, of the different schools of practice will be mailed free to any one asking (by postal card or letter), for the same, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and giving the writer's full post-office address plainly written.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

mines about 30 miles of drifts had been run above the tenth level in the 122 acres belonging to the company, and of course these drifts were run in the most promising parts of the territory. It will be readily seen that this lessened our chance of finding new ore. The eight to 10 miles of drifts run since then have disclosed much new ore, but nothing like the amount opened up in previous years. It became evident some time ago that before a great while we must depend to a large extent upon deeper workings for high grade ore. With that in view several winzes were sunk from the eleventh level in 1907. The results proving satisfactory, shaft No. 2 was sunk to the 1,400-foot level early last year and a drift run on No. 2 vein for a distance of 80 feet, over 30 feet of which was in good ore, and on this same level over 600 feet of drifts were run on the Hidden Treasure vein and branches, of which drifts about 450 feet were in ore of a good grade. Vein No. 2 is a continuation of the great productive vein of the Stratton's Independence, and our work disclosed the fact that the [illegible] are parts of one and the same vein.

The work done on the twelfth level having proven so profitable, the board decided to have shaft No. 2 sunk another 100 feet, which was done with little trouble as it was in solid formation, some distance away from the vein; but it was known that the vein at that level could not be opened up without encountering a large flow of water. For that reason an endeavor was made to unwater the vein by a joint pumping arrangement with the Strong and Granite mines through the shaft of the latter, but after three months' trial this was abandoned as impractical. Soon thereafter pumps were installed in our shaft No. 2, and the pumps at the Strong mine, which adjoins the Portland, were started up and the level was unwatered without serious difficulty. Since that time the water has been kept under control but at considerable expense, as from 500 to 600 gallons of water per minute are still being raised. The drifts run over to the vein on this level have disclosed some very high grade ore, but it will take several months to determine the extent of the ore bodies. The finding of rich ore at this depth is one of the most encouraging discoveries of recent years. While this level is the thirteenth below the collar of shaft No. 1, it is really about 1,500 feet below the surface at shaft No. 2, and the ore in the Hidden Treasure part for the discovery is over 1,500 feet below the surface. This is the greatest depth at which high grade ore has been found in the district.

There is every indication that the numerous veins of the Portland mine come together at depth, forming one or more large, well defined veins of considerable length. The marked increase in length of the ore shoots and in value per ton that has occurred in the last 200 feet, leads us to believe that this lower level will prove very productive, and that there may be even richer deposits below.

Work has been going on during the entire year on a block of ore 42 feet thick, over 100 feet wide and 300 feet long that had been left between a great mass of waste rock above and a great opening below partly filled with decaying timbers. It will take at least the remainder of this year to take out this block, which still contains ore to the gross value of over a half million dollars.

Timbering is still one of the great items of expense. During the past year about 2,000,000 feet of timbers have been put in the various underground workings at a cost for the timber of $65,085.93, and for labor in putting it in place $77,757.18, making the timbering expense for the year $142,843.10.

No Leasing.

An impression has gone abroad that the present management has been considering the matter of leasing the property. This report is without any foundation whatever.

The assets of the company are substantially as follows: The mining properties of the company in the Cripple Creek district, covering an area of about 132 acres, worked through three large three-compartment shafts, two of which are completely equipped with large modern hoisting plants, compressors and pumps, and the other with a smaller hoisting plant. In addition there are the necessary shaft houses, ore bins, machine shops, electric lighting plant, saw mill, and office buildings, etc. The company also owns reduction works having a capacity of 325 tons of raw ore per day and a cyanide tailing plant of 100 tons daily capacity, the two plants being located on a tract of land 130 acres in extent owned by your company, adjoining the corporate limits of Colorado Springs. In addition, the company owns valuable water rights and about seven acres of land within the corporate limits of the city, also 489,150 shares of the capital stock of the Cripple Creek & Cripple Creek Mining & Milling company, being a controlling interest in the company and 30,598 shares of the Amazon Mining company's stock, which is also a controlling interest in that company.

The company owes no debts whatever except the current bills of the month and there are discounted whenever a saving can be made.

Litigation.

We have again had a large amount of expensive and annoying litigation extending throughout most of the year.

Several suits in connection with the Iowa tax matter have been tried and are now in the hands of the judge under advisement. One of the trespass suits against the Stratton's Independence Co., Limited, was tried in the United States court and decided against us. We then appealed the case to the circuit court of appeals and that court has recently decided against us on a technicality, but the case is still pending on a petition for a rehearing. We still have eight other suits of the same nature pending against the Independence company which we shall bring to trial as soon as possible, hoping for better success hereafter. The ore [illegible] has recently been decided in our favor by the court of appeals. The suit of the owners of the [illegible] claim involving an apex right on a small fraction of a claim, is still pending in the courts. The suit for damages in connection with a timber contract entered into some years ago is still pending in the supreme court of this state.

As we stated in our last annual report, the cause of action in almost every one of these suits originated before the present board of trustees took charge of the property.

Dividends.

Dividends to the amount of $480,000 or 16 cents per share were paid during the year 1907, which makes the total amount paid in dividends by the Portland mine to December 31, 1907, $7,827,080.00. The net earnings of the company for the year 1907 were $553,858.20 as shown by the auditor's report submitted herewith, but this does not mean that there was that amount applicable for dividends. Out of these net earnings the cost of permanent improvements and equipment at mine and mill had to be paid. These items, however did not amount to a sum sufficient to interfere with the payment of dividends. The dividends of the past year have been paid without difficulty, having at all times sufficient money in the treasury for all company uses. The company having its own mill is able to get returns from the mint for the gold in its ore within 10 days from the time the ore is taken out of the mine. For this reason a large treasury reserve is not so essential.

In addition to the cash on hand December 31, your company had at that time $71,408.16 invested in custom ore. The money so invested is just as safe as in the bank and the ore can at any time be turned into money with a good profit and above cost.

Very respectfully,
IRVING HOWBERT,
President.

HEINZE DEFENDANT IN COURT

Never Paid for Stock in Aetna Bank, It Is Alleged—Deal Is Quite Complicated

BUTTE, Feb. 3.—By an order signed by Judge Lynch of the state district court today, Robert M. Lyons, receiver in charge of the Aetna bank, which failed in October 1906, is directed to bring suit against F. Augustus Heinze, former director and A. B. Clements, former treasurer, for $37,500, the amount of cash due for stock held by Heinze in the bank and which, it has developed, Heinze never paid for. In the recent trial of Clements here for false certification, it developed that of the $100,000 worth of capital stock owned by Heinze, only $2,500 of this was paid in and that Clements took it himself and gave his note for it, shortly after the amount was received.

Judge Lynch's order, in addition to authorizing suit for $37,500, directs that interest from the time of the issue of the stock not paid for, be included in the suit.

The deal appears to have been complicated. Heinze owned capital stock in the old Aetna Savings and Trust company and when that went out of existence deposited it, not paid of cash, this stock in exchange for stock of the concern now in the hands of a receiver.

at the meeting complied with. In reference to this matter, one of the directors of the company last night said: "We would have had to charter a car to take all of the books of the company to Cheyenne just to permit Mr. Burns to do what he is at liberty to do any day in Colorado Springs; that is, examine the books himself."

A Surprise for Burns.

According to reports from Cheyenne, when Mr. Burns appeared at the meeting yesterday morning, accompanied by his attorney, private secretary and other adherents, he was much surprised to find that the Howbert interests were represented only by C. W. Burdick of that city, Tyson S. Dines of Denver, and W. J. Chinn of Colorado Springs. Not one of the officers or directors of the company was present notwithstanding the fact that Messrs. Peck, Rice, Chamberlin and T. F. Burns left here Sunday night, and President Howbert following yesterday morning, ostensibly for Cheyenne, but in reality only to Denver, where they remained yesterday. Therefore all of Burns' court proceedings calculated to restrain the meeting from adjourning until he "had his say," as it did the year before, were useless, for those against whom he has been making his fight were not present. Mr. Burdick acted as chairman of the meeting, and Messrs. Dines and Chinn voted the Howbert proxies as recited above.

Has Been Splendid Year.

Showing the total net earnings of the year to have been $553,858.20, the report of President Howbert was read at the meeting. The total production of the mine was 79,980 tons, having a gross value of $1,600,950.52, and this, with $1,022.50 from other sources, made the total receipts $1,601,973.02, of which amount $173,644.75 was the profit from mining operations. To this is added $80,213.45 earned by the mill from the treatment of custom ores. Dividends to the amount of $480,000 were paid during the year.

Future Prospects Bright.

[illegible] regarding [illegible] facing the year 1907 the mines of your deep mining are contained in the report. At a depth of 1,580 feet, the lowest in the district at which high-grade ore has been found, rich ore bodies whose exact value has not yet been determined have been disclosed. The report says:

"There is every indication that the numerous veins of the Portland mine come together at depth, forming one or more large, well-defined veins of considerable length." Richer deposits below the present depth are expected.

The report declares that the rumor that the company is intending leasing has no foundation, and that no such action will be taken until all the large ore bodies have been exhausted.

Howbert's Report.

President Howbert's report in part follows:

company produced 79,302 tons of ore of the ordinary grade having an average value of $21.75 per ton, and 9,567 tons of ore taken out in the course of development of an average value of $7.35 per ton. The total of the two grades combined amounted to 71,980 tons having a gross value of $1,600,950.52, to which sum should be added $1,022.50, income from other sources, making total receipts of $1,601,973.02. The total cost of operations of the mining department, including mining costs, freight and treatment on ores shipped, legal expenses, salaries and expenditures of the general office at Colorado Springs, etc., was $1,428,328.27. Deducting this amount from the total receipts as given above, leaves a net profit of $173,644.75 from mining operations. To this should be added $80,213.45 profit earned by the mill from treatment of custom ores, which makes the total net earnings of the company for the year 1907 from mining and milling operations, $553,858.20. The net cash balance remaining on hand December 31, 1907, was $240,531.14, besides $71,408.16 invested in custom ore in the bins at the mill on that date.

It will be seen by the foregoing that the production of ore during 1907 was considerably less in tonnage than in the preceding year, but was of a higher average value per ton. Notwithstanding the lessened production, owing to a reduction of cost of mining and treatment and the profit made in treating custom ore, the net earnings of the company for the year were greater than for 1906. The decrease in production was caused to some extent by the shortage of labor that existed in the Cripple Creek district during most of the year, but to a larger extent by the very considerable amount of time required in making the old stopes secure so that the remaining ore in them could be safely taken out.

Timbering Problems.

The present management succeeded to the control of the property after it had been in operation for more than ten years. During that time many large ore shoots had been opened up and from them large quantities of ore taken out. Many of these ore shoots were almost as wide as long and often lay parallel to each other, separated by fractured and seamy walls varying from only fifteen to seventy-five feet in thickness. These great openings had been timbered as the ore was extracted, millions of feet of timber having been used for that purpose, much of which at the time we took charge was already in a serious state of decay. Among the first work done under the present management was an attempt to put the timbering in good condition, but we soon found that to be impossible except at a ruinous expense, and to make matters worse, in some of these great stopes only the richer ore had been extracted, thousands of tons of fair grade ore liable to be lost under many tons of timbers and waste rock. It is with this kind of a problem that the management of the mine has been wrestling for the last three years, and especially during the last year.

What the Press Agents Say

THE GREATEST THEATRICAL SUCCESS OF THE SEASON

"The Man of the Hour," which William A. Brady and Joseph Grismer will offer to the theatergoers at the Opera House soon, marks a new era in the history of the stage. It follows none of the old methods of speech or action. It enjoys the unique distinction of never having received a single adverse criticism. The unanimous praise with the public was said to be equally spontaneous and emphatic. In fact, it has become one of the four established Broadway successes, and bids fair to outlive even these rivals. It is said to appeal to everyone regardless of age, sex or condition. It has been called "The Dawn of Civic Conscience," "A Sermon on Public Honesty," yet it is said to be no "dry sermon." Its interest is human and sympathetic. Its humor creates peals and roars of laughter, and is said to have a love story of touching tenderness. It is aptly termed "The Play of the Day."

PAUL GILMORE IN "THE WHEEL OF LOVE"

There is a great deal of character, expression and even grace in the manly figure of Jack Hartley in George V. Hobart's new romantic love idyl, "The Wheel of Love," and Paul Gilmore plays it to perfection. The part is totally different from the one in which he was last seen here, Dick Seeley, the Yale stroke in "At Yale," but it has many of the same qualities, notably those of heroism, manliness and courage. It is a riper part, one in which the popular young actor accentuates the good points noted in Dick Seeley rather than adds many new ones. In his care of his Aunt Angelica and his solicitude for his sweetheart, Eleanor Greyson, he is more earnest, truthful and convincing than he ever was in "At Yale," and his entire conception of the part ranks high among the dramatic creations of the past decade. The piece will be brought to the Opera House next Friday evening by Jules Murry. The production is a particularly beautiful one and the cast more than adequate. Altogether, "The Wheel of Love" is one of the great hits of the season. As Jack Hartley, alias Horace Sinclair in his new play, "The Wheel of Love," Mr. Gilmore has the part of a young western ranchman, who bobs in upon his studious and scholarly uncle and timid aunt in his automobile and proceeds in his own breezy, western fashion to fall in love with the one girl in all the world he should not have fallen in love with, and carries out his intentions with the utmost sangfroid and rejoices at the end at his deception even with his sweetheart.

"THE BURGOMASTER"

Gus Weinburg and dainty Ruth White will head the big revival of "The Burgomaster," which William P. Cullen will present at the Opera House next Monday evening. These two clever people are the originals in the roles of Peter Stuyvesant, governor of New Amsterdam, who sleeps for 200 years and awakes to find himself in modern New York, and of Willie, the gilded youth who essays to show him around the town. The costumes for the revival are all new, and are the handsomest, it is said, of any musical comedy now touring. The scenery is all new, some of the scenes having been changed. "The Burgomaster" was the first of the Pixley and Luder's popular successes to gain favor. It is in a class with "Robin Hood" and "The Prince of Pilsen" for tunefulness, and many of the numbers have come to be known as classic. "The Tale of the Kangaroo," "I Love You," the famous Indian chorus, the "Rainy-Dai[illegible]" and other songs, have a lilt that sends the auditor from the theater [illegible] whistling [illegible]. Miss White has written a new song, which experts claim will be a large seller. It is entitled, "How Many Have You Told That To?" The chorus, which is a very large one, has been selected especially for its singing and dancing ability. Mr. Cullen will be remembered as the producer of "The Burgomaster" and "The Tenderfoot."

AT THE EMPIRE.

A large audience witnessed the performance at the Empire last evening and everybody was well pleased with [illegible] The [illegible] juvenile comedians, took the house by storm and were warmly applauded for their efforts. Their act is highly entertaining, as the children do some singing and dancing that would do credit to performers that have been on the road for years. The Flood sisters do some really clever balancing stunts and were well received in their act. Hall and Colburn were decided hits in their skit entitled "The Swede and the Happy Girl." The act affords them ample opportunity for high class comedy and they take advantage of it. New motion pictures and the latest illustrated song complete a bill that is well worth seeing.

PADEREWSKI, THE COMPOSER

Paderewski, the composer, is almost lost sight of in Paderewski, the virtuoso, yet at one time he all but made up his mind to give up the piano as a profession and devote himself entirely to composition. Had he done so, it is a question whether he would not have been famous as he is, for there is little question that he is one of the few original talents that is writing music today.

Since he became a virtuoso he has had comparatively little time for composition, yet he has quite a list of important works to his credit and will soon add more. The thoroughness which characterizes his as a pianist is found in his work as a composer and while he writes the first draft of a work rapidly, the finishing process is always slow and painstaking, for no one is a sterner critic of Paderewski than Paderewski himself.

He has written two concertos for piano and orchestra and one fantasia. His works for the piano alone, large and small, make a very long list and he has written almost a hundred songs. His largest work, so far, was his opera "Manru," which had its first production in Dresden in 1901 and was produced in New York at the Metropolitan Opera house the following spring. The composition of this work occupied his leisure time for five or six years and that it has not a more enduring success was due to the inadequacy of the libretto, for the music was of very high grade and, in parts, decidedly inspired.

For the past two years Paderewski has occupied himself with a symphony, a work of very large dimensions and he has about finished his second opera. The symphony as soon as it is ready is to have its first performance by the Boston Symphony orchestra and, it is hoped, during the tenure of Dr. Karl Muck, the conductor. The opera is on the Hindu theme of "Sakuntala" familiar to the concert-goer through Goldmark's beautiful overture of that title. The book of this opera should be all that can be desired for it has been written by the distinguished French poet and dramatist, Catulle Mendes.

In the last year or so, Paderewski has written some smaller works for the piano, some of which he is playing in America. One of them, a set of variations on an original theme, is said to be of unusual interest.

JOSEF HOFMANN

Second Artist Concert by the C. S. Musical Club at Perkins Hall February 8.

From the New York Post:

It was a delight to hear the last of Beethoven's sonatas played without pedantry, as a piece written by a composer with real red blood in his veins; a delight to hear those truculent bass notes in the first movement, emphasized with splendid virility; a delight to be soothed by the enchanting melody of the arietta as sung by the pianist's fingers. As a matter of course, even a Hofmann could not impart any interest to the ridiculous variations which Beethoven tacked onto his music variations which even so staunch an admirer of the composer as Kullak, accused of insipidity, while another worshiper, Marx, regretted the lamentable way in which the arietta losses itself in running figure work.

Schumann's great Fantasie gave Mr. Hofmann an even better opportunity than the Beethoven sonata to reveal his profound insight into the deepest recesses of tone poetry. Fantastic, passionate and melodious this music is, and he played it fantastically, passionately and melodiously. From his splendid instrument he evoked tones of enchanting beauty and throughout the whole piece he seemed entirely absorbed in the music, forgetful of the audience. It is thus that music becomes most delectable.

Alton Packard, the cartoonist, illustrates his humorous lectures by drawing enormous cartoons in the presence of the audience, on sheets of paper eight feet square, with colored crayons. He carries with him his easels, paper and crayons, but his capacity and resourcefulness as a lecturer and entertainer may be judged by the way he overcame an awkward difficulty a few years ago when he arrived in Sioux City, Iowa, at six-thirty p. m., to appear on the college lecture course, and found his baggage, easels, crayons, paper and all had been left behind. With some rapid work and the assistance of some college boys, sheets of wrapping paper were joined in large sheets, a brush and marking pot were borrowed, an easel improvised, and Packard gave his entertainment with usual success, and the audience never knew of the accident. Accidents and unfavorable circumstances need not deter a man who is made of the right stuff, and has determination to get there. Make circumstances fit the occasion—turn failure into success.

THE PROMPTER SANG.

In speaking of the death at Mainz of Gottlieb Glaser, the old prompter of the Stadttheater of that city, a Boston paper says: "He was modest in his work and did it without show or bluster. As he lived, so he passed away, and a short paragraph was all that the press bestowed upon him. This one story should be remembered: One evening the house was crowded in honor of a popular tenor. At the time when he should have done his best the tenor's voice suddenly failed him. He looked helplessly toward the top of the house, the members of the orchestra became nervous and the audience shared in the discomfort. But help came—not from above, but from the prompter's box. He realized the situation and began where the tenor had left off and for the first and only time sang an operatic solo. The audience applauded wildly, the tenor bowed and the leader of the orchestra banged his applause with his baton on the prompter's box and shouted: 'Bravo Glaser!'"

TO BUILD NEW CHURCH

UNIVERSALISTS WILL HAVE THEIR OWN EDIFICE

Decision Reached at Meeting Last Night—Rev. W. H. McGlauflin Preaches Sermon.

Members of the congregation of the First Universalist church last night definitely decided upon the erection of a church edifice and the securing of a resident pastor after a meeting at the Second Congregational church. An active campaign will be started immediately to secure funds, the details of which will be discussed at a meeting tonight.

The Rev. W. H. McGlauflin of Chicago, who is conducting a series of services, delivered a forceful sermon at the meeting last night in the Second Congregational church. His sermon, which compares Universalism with other beliefs, was in part as follows:

The Agreement.

All Christians believe in the Bible. All Universalists believe in the Bible. All Christians believe in God. Universalists believe in God. All Christians believe in Christ. Universalists believe in Christ. All Christians believe in immortality. All Christians believe in the resurrection of the dead. Universalists believe in the resurrection of the dead. All Christians believe in punishment for sin. Universalists believe in punishment for sin. All Christians believe in repentance, regeneration, forgiveness and salvation. Universalists believe in repentance, regeneration, forgiveness and salvation. All Christians believe in the importance of the Christian life. Universalists believe in the importance of the Christian life. Therefore, Universalists must be Christians. We agree with all Christians on so many points of doctrine that we, too, must be Christians.

The Difference.

The common opinion is that the Bible is a revelation from God; the Bible contains a revelation of God, as is the record of a special manifestation of the divine truth and love.

The common opinion is that God is the creator and preserver of all souls but the father of Christians only; the Universalist doctrine is that God is the father of all souls, "The Father of the spirits of all flesh."

The common opinion is that sin will be punished if not repented of; the Universalist doctrine is that sin is punished that it may be repented of. The common opinion is that the penalty of sin is inflicted after death; the Universalist doctrine is that the infliction of the penalty begins when sin is committed, and continues until the sin is repented of. The common opinion is that punishment is some external castigation beyond the grave; the Universalist doctrine is that punishment is inward and spiritual, the [illegible] of [illegible]. The common opinion is that sinners repent for fear they will be punished; the Universalist doctrine is that sinners repent because they are punished.

The common opinion is that regeneration is a rebirth, a radical change of nature; the Universalist doctrine is that regeneration is a higher birth [illegible] from above, the soul's realization of spiritual things. The common opinion is that men are forgiven the punishment due their sins; the Universalist doctrine is that there is no forgiveness of punishment, that it is the sin and not the punishment that is forgiven.

Salvation Discussed.

The common opinion is that salvation is from punishment. The Universalist doctrine is that salvation is from sin. The common opinion is that punishment is vindictive and therefore endless; the Universalist doctrine is that punishment is reformatory and therefore limited.

The common opinion is that Christ is God. The Universalist doctrine is that Christ is the son of God, "the brightness of the Father's glory and the express image of his person."

The common opinion is that the atonement is the reconciliation of God to man; the Universalist doctrine is that the atonement is the reconciliation of man to God.

The common opinion is that Christ will save a part of mankind; the Universalist doctrine is that Christ will save all mankind. The common opinion is that all efforts for the salvation of souls end at death; the Universalist doctrine is that these efforts continue after death and end only when all souls are saved.

The common opinion is that the "day of judgment" comes at the end of this world; the Universalist doctrine is that "now is the judgment of this world," that the judgment day is the continuous present.

The common opinion is that the second resurrection takes place at the end of the world; the Universalist doctrine is that the resurrection is present and passing, that the dead are raised even as the living die. The common opinion is that the resurrection is the resurrection of the [illegible] physical body; the Universalist doctrine is that the resurrection is the rising of the soul into the spiritual world and its being clothed with the "spiritual body." These are some of the differences.

Whereas, The board of arbitration in making its award took as a standard of comparison in measuring the efficiency of the arc lamp then and now furnished to the city by the company for street lighting purposes, a certain lamp known as "the 7.5 ampere alternating current inclosed arc lamp operated at [illegible] average wattage of 480 watts per lamp per hour at the lamp terminals," and

Whereas, There has been no actual settlement of the bills rendered by the company to the city for the arc lamps supplied for street lighting since the bill rendered for the month of January, A. D. 1908, and

Whereas, It is mutually desired by the company and the city to settle and amicably adjust all differences existing between them not only with reference to the unpaid bills aforesaid, but also with reference to the installation of an arc lamp which will meet the requirements of section 2 of the Jackson franchise;

Now, therefore, it is mutually agreed by and between the parties hereto as follows, to wit:

First—The city shall forthwith, upon the execution of this agreement, pay the company all bills for street lighting now due and unpaid, the same to be computed upon the basis adopted by said board of arbitration in making its award, which payments, when so made, shall be received by the company in full settlement thereof.

Second—Hereafter, and until the expiration of the reasonable time hereinafter provided, within which the company shall install the 7.5 ampere alternating current inclosed arc lamp, the company shall render monthly bills to the city for street lighting, which shall be computed upon the basis of the award made by said board of arbitration. The city shall promptly pay said bills after a reasonable time within which to check them in the monthly load sheets to be furnished by the company as hereinafter provided.

Third—The company shall proceed forthwith to install, or cause to be installed, on the streets of said city at the street intersections where arc lamps are now installed, the arc lamp adopted by said board of arbitration as the basis of its award, the same being known as "the 7.5 ampere alternating current inclosed arc lamp," which lamp said company agrees to operate up to the recognized standard for the operation of said arc lamp, to wit, at a normal average wattage of 480 watts per lamp per hour at the lamp terminals. The installation of said arc lamps shall be made as soon as the same can be reasonably done, and in any event (strikes, [illegible] and acts of God excepted) shall be completed by June 1, 1908. Said lamps, when so installed and operated, shall, subject to the reservations contained in paragraph five hereof, be by the city accepted as the equivalent of the arc lamps specified in section 2 of the Jackson franchise.

Should the average wattage for any month fall below the standard above specified, settlement for such month shall be made for the average watts per lamp per hour actually furnished proportionately upon the basis of $5.50 for 480 watts per lamp per hour.

Fourth—The company shall, at its own expense, furnish to the city each month a properly verified copy of its load sheet for the previous month, in order that the city may be able, prior to the installation of the said 7.5 ampere A. C. lamp, to properly check and audit the monthly bills rendered for the arc lamp now in use, and further to the end that the city may, at all times be in position to properly check the operation of the 7.5 ampere A. C. arc lamp, when the same shall have been installed.

Fifth—Subsequent to January 1, A. D. 1912, and prior to January 1, A. D. 1917, the city shall have the right to require the company to install any other system of street lighting, arc or incandescent, then in general use for street lighting purposes in cities of the United States. The company shall make such installation as soon as the same can be reasonably made, after receiving due notice of the city's demand for the same, which demand shall be expressed in a resolution duly adopted by the City Council of the city of Colorado Springs and certified to the company by the city clerk and the Mayor of said city. The price to be paid by the city to the company for such new lighting system shall be determined by taking as a basis for the computation the said 7.5 ampere alternating current inclosed arc lamp at $5.50 per month, and upon such basis the price shall be plus or minus said rate, as the case may be, so that the net return to the company for lighting the streets of said city shall be the same as it would have been had the said 7.5 ampere alternating current arc lamp continued in use for the then unexpired portion of the Jackson franchise.

In case the company and the city should be unable to agree in their computation as to the price to be paid for such new street lighting system, the matter shall be referred to arbitration before a board of arbitrators, at least two of whom shall be electrical engineers. The arbitrators shall be chosen in the following manner: One electrical engineer by the city, one electrical engineer by the company, and the third arbitrator, who may or may not be an electrical engineer, shall be selected by the two arbitrators chosen as aforesaid. The board of arbitration so selected shall make the computation in accordance with the terms of this agreement. It shall have the right to take testimony and to demand the production of all books, accounts, budgets, pay rolls, records and sheets, etc., as may be by it deemed necessary. In case of disagreement between the city and the company as to whether the lighting system demanded by the city is or is not in general use in cities of the United States at the time of the demand, this matter may also be submitted to a board of arbitration, to be selected as above provided, or both questions may be submitted to the same board. The decision of any two members of such board of arbitration shall be binding upon both parties hereto.

Sixth—It is expressly understood and agreed that nothing herein shall be so construed as changing, varying or in any way altering the rights of either party hereto under the Jackson franchise, save and except that this agreement is intended to settle all controversy between the city and the company as to the meaning of the language "arc lights of standard 2,000-candle-power each," as the same is used in said franchise.

In witness whereof, the city of Colorado Springs has caused these presents to be signed by its Mayor and its corporate seal hereto attached by its city clerk, pursuant to a resolution adopted by the City Council authorizing them hereunto, and the Pikes Peak Hydro-Electric company has caused these presents to be signed by its president and its corporate seal to be hereunto attached, attested by its secretary, pursuant to a resolution of its board of directors, authorizing them hereunto.

Majority Report.

Following is the majority report:

Colorado Springs [illegible]
To the Honorable Mayor and City Council of the City of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Gentlemen:

We, the undersigned, your committee appointed to consider the various matters at issue now pending between the Hydro-Electric company and the city of Colorado Springs and other matters of a kindred nature, all of which were referred to this committee, beg leave to make a further report as follows:

Under date of October 7, a majority of this committee submitted its report, in which its opinion was expressed regarding the method to be adopted in the settlement of bills which were then, and are now, pending, and which still remain unpaid. The committee has had no occasion to change its opinion in this respect.

In the matter of the betterment of the lighting service now furnished the city, the committee also remains of the same mind as it did at that time, which was, in effect, that the 7.5 ampere lamp, to be operated at an average wattage of 480 watts per lamp per hour at the lamp terminal, be substituted for the lamps now in use, the city to reserve, however, the right to substitute any other system of street lighting after five years, which might at that time be in general use.

The third recommendation made in the report of October 7 was that copies of all load sheets be furnished for the purpose of checking up the bills furnished by the lighting company, and this matter still seems consistent and necessary.

These matters being the only ones that come directly under the jurisdiction of the Hydro-Electric company, and having been fully considered, this company has as a result has submitted to us for consideration a contract embodying them, which contract is submitted herewith.

It will be found that the contract embodies a compliance with all of the recommendations made in the report of October 7, in so far as these recommendations come within the jurisdiction of the Hydro-Electric company.

In that report, however, your committee also took up for consideration various matters coming under the jurisdiction of the Colorado Springs Electric company, and while it is our belief that the ownership of these companies is practically identical, their contracts with the city are separate, and they therefore must be considered as entirely separate corporations.

We recommended that in all state buildings now furnished with free light under the Hydro franchise, the Colorado Springs Electric company be required to furnish current at a price of not to exceed two cents per kilowatt hour; also that the Colorado Springs Electric company be required to reduce its then maximum rate of [illegible] cents per kilowatt hour for residence consumers by 10 per cent, and that the net charge per kilowatt hour for [illegible] made on or before the 10th day of the month succeeding that in which the bills were incurred, be not to exceed [illegible] cents. That a similar reduction be made where flat rate charges are made.

We further recommend that the matter of the computation of the business district be taken up and negotiations concluded following the filing of our report.

In these matters we have been assured that the Colorado Springs Electric company will agree to furnish light for city buildings at two cents per kilowatt hour, as recommended. Following the filing of our report the rates to residence consumers were reduced to [illegible] cents per kilowatt hour [illegible] to a figure slightly below that which was recommended. We are also informed by this company that at any time when the illumination of the business district is undertaken the company will be glad to make a contract at a price of not to exceed two cents per kilowatt hour for this service.

The only recommendation made that we made at that time and which this company is not willing to grant is that in which we suggested that the company be required, within not less than five years, to make a further reduction to its consumers [illegible] per cent.

The company takes the position that this is an unjust requirement in view of the uncertainty of future business needs and methods, and they also contend that it would be a concession which might operate as a waiver of some of its franchise rights.

This being the only suggestion that the committee made which has not been complied with, we feel that it is only just that this should be a matter on which the opinion of the entire Council should be freely given, and action taken either for the enforcement of the suggestion, or otherwise, as may be deemed most expedient.

The Hydro-Electric company has already drawn and signed the contract which it is willing to execute, and the committee recommends that the Mayor and clerk be authorized to properly execute the same.

Inasmuch as the Colorado Springs Electric company has not complied with all of the recommendations in the report of October 7, no contract is submitted, but the opinion is expressed that should the Council conclude to forego its demand for the enforcement of this single recommendation, a contract can be made by the city, at any time, on the terms suggested.

The committee feels that it has proceeded as far as is possible in the execution of its duties, and therefore begs for its discharge.

Respectfully submitted,
D. N. HEIZER

W. B. PRICE.

Alderman Holden's minority report follows:

We, a minority of your committee to which was referred the matter of suspended street light bills and the inefficiency of the present arc lamps furnished this city by The Pikes Peak Hydro-Electric company under the Jackson franchise, beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

First—That the city should insist upon and demand of the Hydro company that it at once comply with its contract and install such street arc lamps as are the equivalent of the arc lights it agreed to furnish under the terms of the Jackson franchise.

Second—That the city refuse to sign or enter into any contract or agreement by which it agrees to accept a "7.5 ampere alternating current inclosed arc lamp" as the equivalent of the arc lamps mentioned in the Jackson franchise.

Third—That the city stand upon its rights as set out in the contract with the Hydro company under the Jackson franchise, and refuse to accept "7.5 ampere alternating current inclosed lamps," or any other arc lamps as the equivalent of the arc lamps mentioned in the Jackson franchise, until such new lamps have been installed, tested and found from actual operation to be the equivalent of the lamps contracted for by the Jackson franchise.

Fourth—That it is the duty of the Hydro company to furnish the quality of lights contracted for in the Jackson franchise, or their equivalent, and it is equally our duty, as representatives of the people, to withhold [illegible] claimed by the Hydro company for inferior lights, until such time as the quality of lights contracted for, or their equivalent, are furnished by the Hydro company.

Fifth—That the city refuse to pay any street lighting bills until the Hydro company complies with its contract by installing street arc lamps which are found by test to be the equivalent of the arc lamps it agreed to furnish under the Jackson franchise.

Sixth—That when said suspended street light bills are ultimately paid, they be discounted at least 20 per cent.

Respectfully submitted,
A. M. HOLDEN,
Committee.

tado to Idaho, the President did not interfere. He was as silent as the oysters in Oyster bay."

Bourke Cockran also replied to Mr. Townsend. He denied the accuracy of Mr. Townsend's statement and said that since the beginning of the republic there had not been a single policy prominently incorporated into law that was not of Democratic origin. Coming to more recent issues, Mr. Cockran said:

"The message which the President sent here Friday raises a question which goes to the very existence and growth of civil government. The first part of the message contains complaints. After we pass that portion, we come to that part which we all applauded, and that was the paragraph that related to charges that business distress was brought on by the government, and that the knife should be used freely in cutting out rottenness."

Mr. Cockran grew vitriolic in his denunciation of bank presidents and corporation officials who had been guilty of illegal action. He first referred to the insurance investigation, and in speaking of the recent financial crisis, said it had been caused by revelations of depravity in high places in the financial world. "Was the President responsible for that?" he inquired.

The whole thing, he declared, grew out of a quarrel of the plunderers of insurance companies over the distribution of the spoils. So deeply had the public conscience become aroused, he said, by the spectacle of unpunished crime, that never did it seem to dawn on anyone, publicists, journalists, or prosecuting officers or even politicians, "that instead of certain [illegible] heads being suffered to do [illegible] cleaning in the corporations they pillaged, they ought to be [illegible] some cell cleaning in the penitentiary.

"These gentlemen," he said, "when their rapacity had exhausted the supply and there was nothing left to steal, did not even surrender control of the corporations they wronged. They do not," he continued, "flee from justice fearing its sword, but they go into a court of justice and obtain its protection to obtain further authority over the very trusts they had betrayed."

"It has been asked," continued Mr. Cockran, "why doesn't the President prosecute these gentlemen?" but he said, he noticed "it was always propounded by those who if they thought there was any danger of prosecution, would not engage in public discussion, but would be quietly seeking steamship tickets to foreign lands."

He did not believe the President yet had exhausted all his powers, but he said:

President Appreciates Duty.

"I do say this message shows he appreciates his duty." Loud Republican applause followed this remark. The message was, Mr. Cockran declared, "an inspired proclamation to the American people." Mr. Cockran discussed the judiciary of the country and said he had noticed in his own state, federal and state judges leaving the bench to accept professional employment by corporations. It was no wonder therefore, he said, that the public conscience should be alarmed. He declared that justice was the foundation of prosperity. It was, he said, only the ragged, the rotten and the corrupt that had reason to fear the light of publicity or the sword of justice. "May the light never be obscured," he exclaimed, "and may the sword never be sheathed."

Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, who followed, declared that the President had done nothing to unsettle conditions by his own acts. He had simply called attention to the misdeeds of those malefactors. "The President," he said, "is neither a bull nor a bear. The stock gamblers have done more than any other class to bring on this disaster—to bring into disrepute the value of our securities."

American People Back of Roosevelt.

"In everything the President has done," continued Mr. Hepburn, "the American people stand behind him. In every recommendation of this message the American people stand behind him."

Continued applause in Republican side, quickly followed in all parts of the House interrupted the speaker for some minutes. "And they demand," he went on when quiet was restored, "that the legislation for which the President stands shall be given in order that this may be made effective through the courts. Some may say there will be nothing done by this Congress. I do not believe it. I assert that the American people are earnest in so clothing the hands of the executive power that he may be able to accomplish the reforms advocated in this message and if any stands in the way he will simply be run over."

Again a wave of uproarious applause swept over the House.

The House adjourned at 4:58 o'clock.

The body of the king is clad in the uniform of the commander in chief of the army, while the prince wears a uniform of a captain of the second lancers. Several masses for the repose of the souls of the departed have already been said in the mortuary chapel chamber.

The funerals will be held February 8, and the bodies will lie in state probably tomorrow.

The condition of Queen Amelie, contrary to rumors, is very good.

GOVERNOR HUGHES' DECLARATION OF FAITH.

CHARLES E. HUGHES, governor of New York, is not a second Judge Parker. The transparent hypocrisy that it is unbecoming in a Presidential aspirant to announce his views of public questions until after he has actually been chosen by the nominating convention does not appeal to his sense of the fitness of things. His conduct throughout has been admirable. He did not avail himself of the first opportunity after he had been prominently mentioned for the Republican nomination to rush into print with a statement of his position [illegible] he waited until [illegible] the time [illegible] apparent that a substantial sentiment [illegible] candidacy had existed, and having [illegible] of this he has frankly [illegible] public questions [illegible] that the people may have an idea of the [illegible] closely [illegible].

Then [illegible] Governor Hughes [illegible] before the New York Republican Club [illegible] night [illegible] as to be no longer a real Republican [illegible] with the best and most progressive [illegible] party. In the beginning of his address [illegible] pains to express approval of the [illegible] issue on a theme which in [illegible] didacy in a different light [illegible] widely circulated and generally believed [illegible] Hughes [illegible] Administration [illegible] ground [illegible] financial interests [illegible] didate [illegible] sufficiently [illegible] their own purposes [illegible] people to stand a reasonable chance of getting the nomination.

INDORSES ROOSEVELT POLICIES. Governor Hughes [illegible] the content [illegible] as an old-fashioned conservative [illegible] on his supposed antipathy [illegible] as an indication that [illegible]

[illegible] ernor Hughes declares that [illegible] Administration has impressed [illegible] and won the confidence of [illegible] vigorous [illegible] impulse he has given [illegible] rection [illegible] dent [illegible] opinion [illegible] best means [illegible] cult problem [illegible] with the [illegible]

[illegible] the establishment of our security [illegible] necessary foundations [illegible] recognition of equal rights [illegible] and the fundamental [illegible] he has had in view. We shall have in the next campaign [illegible] the general admiration of his strong personality and the popular appreciation of the intensity of his desire to promote the righteous conduct of affairs and the welfare of his fellow men. The [illegible] free institutions has been a struggle against special privileges * * * There must be no encroachment on the common right for the purpose of serving the interests of the few at the expense of the many.

If this means anything at all [illegible] that Governor Hughes indorses the President's policies and believes that their ultimate success is of far greater importance than mere differences [illegible] as to the method of their attainment. If there is anything in this to comfort Mr. Harriman or Mr. Rockefeller they are doubtless welcome to it, but to us it looks very much as if Governor Hughes intends if he becomes President to follow pretty closely in the footsteps of Theodore Roosevelt. He might and probably would dispense with the "brass band," but we have always thought that the constant harping on brass band methods is mere pretense and not what the corporate interests really object to in the ends which the President has in view, namely their more rigid supervision by law.

[illegible] WITH THE CORPORATIONS. Governor Hughes says that he is "not for punishment in the shape of fines upon corporations except for minor offenses." In his recent message President Roosevelt says substantially the same thing, but he points out that under existing laws it is impossible in a very great majority of the cases to impose any other punishment. Attorney-General Bonaparte declared a few days ago that if the Government [illegible] limited itself to those cases in which jail [illegible] is the only means of punishment available [illegible] not win more than one prosecution out of a hundred. The [illegible] of inflicting such huge [illegible] as the one [illegible] against the Standard Oil [illegible] a debatable question, but it is certain that a majority of the thinking [illegible] of jail sentences instead, if it were possible to follow this method.

Governor Hughes expresses approval of the railway rate legislation enacted by the last Congress, or as he calls it, the Roosevelt extension of the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission. He thinks that the Sherman anti-trust law should be clarified and made more explicit, which is an indorsement of views recently expressed on this subject by many of the best informed public men. His expressions as to anti-trust legislation are guarded, but they are definite enough to show that he recognizes the necessity of better means of remedying the evil. Finally he indorses tariff revision.

This statement, which covers rather fully all of the important public questions likely to be concerned in the coming campaign, will probably add considerably to the strength of the Hughes candidacy. Secretary Taft has quite [illegible] a long lead in the race for the nomination, but the race is not finished by any means. It is certain that the next President will be a man who is in sympathy with the Roosevelt policies, and Governor Hughes has shown himself sufficiently in sympathy with them to be available. And yet there is a very strong [illegible] against the President naming his [illegible] and this may [illegible] enough strength to defeat Taft, in which case the nomination of Hughes would be almost assured. Cannon, Fairbanks, Knox and Cortelyou are hardly to be considered now, and unless the situation undergoes a complete change the race is entirely between the Secretary of War and the Governor of New York. Governor Hughes may not be the successful aspirant, but if he is and makes his campaign on this platform his election by an overwhelming majority will be a foregone conclusion.

In a discussion of the urgent deficiency bill in the House a few days ago it developed that the cost thus far of the present pacification of Cuba has been a little more than $4,000,000. Cuba gets the [illegible] and Uncle Sam pays the bill. Verily our [illegible] and enlightenment [illegible] Spain in various parts [illegible] Already [illegible] ment has spent more than three hundred millions [illegible] Philippines [illegible] this burden though than [illegible] for the Philippines as an American possession [illegible] But Cuba [illegible] United States derives [illegible]

MAC DOWELL

From the Washington Star.

Edward A. MacDowell has been a hopeless physical and nervous wreck for more than two years, and consequently the admirers of his music have resigned themselves to the thought that the store of his production would never be increased. His death therefore while [illegible] but [illegible] melancholy may be the event. MacDowell's work was finished when he became ill. Yet he had apparently only begun his wonder-working in melody and harmony. He had struggled against adversity and his remunerations were just beginning to recompense him for his sacrifices. Compelled by necessity to remain at the grindstone of teaching in order to earn a livelihood, he was tightly fettered, and doubtless his compositions limited. Paderewski urged that MacDowell be endowed with a competence by the music lovers of America, in order to enable him to continue his creative work unhampered by the requirements of income-earning. No more sincere tribute to the man's genius could have been paid. But MacDowell had suffered no greater privations than those through which Paderewski himself passed during his early career. The great interpreter of music is amply qualified to speak concerning the sufferings undergone in the cause of musical art. Since the collapse of his nervous system, MacDowell's friends and admirers have been earnestly trying to raise a fund for his maintenance here and there with gratifying success, but on the whole in sad disproportion to the enjoyment which his music has given.

TAFT AND HUGHES

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

It would be great and good fortune for the Republican party if the struggle for its presidential nomination could now be narrowed into a friendly contest between Mr. Taft and Mr. Hughes, each of whom is a high type of public man. In so far as there are signs of such a development the Republican party is to be cordially congratulated. It is an exceptional privilege that is offered. In personal character and in fitness to discharge the duties of the presidential office the two men are both highly attractive. It is easy to appreciate how Republicans of ideals and unselfish love of country may hesitate between them, for both are personally free from plutocratic alliances, inimical to the interests of the people, and both have solidity of mind and stability of temperament engaging to contemplate. The selection of one or the other would bring into the campaign the strong appeal to the American voter which the best traditions of the Republican party embody, however vulnerable either might be on account of special issues or because of general conditions adverse to the party in power.

The President himself could do much to promote a friendly contest between the two most promising candidates as they now appear by severely neutralizing himself and his office. Whatever may be his record in the line of appointments, whatever may be the record of other federal office holders in the struggle for the naming of his successor, his own activity in trying to make his secretary of war the next president is quite as objectionable as the alleged activity for one candidate of an army of small place holders. The President of the United States is the greatest, the most powerful of all the federal office holders, and to him, because of the vast influence his office confers upon him, there comes unlimited opportunity to hinder the Republican party's freedom of action in behalf of his personal predilections. It is not necessary for the President to appoint others to administrative posts for partisan political purposes to violate proper rules of political action in a democracy. A President may, if he may be guilty of pernicious activity without directly using the appointing power as well as any second rate postmaster. Mr. Roosevelt in this case can not separate himself as a citizen from his high and powerful station, nor could any President under similar conditions. And, therefore, under Republican institutions chief magistrates should not attempt to designate whom a free people shall place in power as their successors. It ought to be no satisfaction to Secretary Taft that the lower branch of the Kansas legislature in indorsing his candidacy referred to him as the choice of the present Chief Executive.

Is this a fine-spun criticism? It may seem so to Mr. Taft. It will seem so to Mr. Roosevelt. Yet [illegible] broadly speaking, if it remains the business of the people to elect their own rulers [illegible] even from the more narrow view point of capacity of the party is to be strong with the people and unhampered by unnecessary [illegible] nothing more advantageous [illegible] Republican party [illegible]

We do not unreservedly commend all of his strenuous methods of health maintenance to other [illegible] but we think the value of the general principle involved is plain.

So get out in the open occasionally, Mr. Cityman. Take time to walk to your office. If you can not find opportunity to get exercise otherwise. Do something for your body as well as your pocketbook, and then be sure that the latter will be the gainer in the end after all. Doctors are expensive luxuries and a sick man is not ordinarily a glittering success as an income producer.

STANDARD OIL PRESTIGE IN ROUMANIA.

From the Indianapolis News.

Charles Wood, Bert Graham, Charles Detter, Joseph McCastle, and two other Muncie oil workers, have signed contracts to go to Roumania in the employ of the Standard Oil company, where the Standard has come into virtual control of the immense Roumanian field. One stipulation in their agreement with the Standard is that on finishing their day's work the men shall don evening clothes, because, it is set forth, there are but two classes of people in Roumania—the peasants and the rich—and the Standard desires to keep up its prestige by having its employes well dressed.

The Killing of Rulers

Other Assassinations Which Have Occurred in Recent Years.

From the Kansas City Star.

The assassination of King Carlos and the crown prince of Portugal brings to mind especially the atrocious murder of King Alexander and Queen Draga of Servia the night of June 10, 1903, in the royal palace at Belgrade. Conspirators broke open the door leading to the king's apartments and demanded his signature to a document containing a statement that by marrying Queen Draga he had degraded Servia and that, therefore, he must abdicate. The king meanwhile was [illegible] the plot.

At this moment Queen Draga appeared at the door and she and the king ran from the apartments in their night clothing, followed by shots from the soldiers. They ran through the palace, slamming doors behind them, and reached the roof in safety. But here they were overtaken. The king stood in front of his consort, facing his enemies unflinchingly. All rushed upon the royal pair, firing with their revolvers as they did so.

Both the king and queen fell together, locked as they fell in one last embrace. They were riddled with bullets and died almost instantly.

In addition to these murders the queen's two brothers were shot in their homes, as well as Premier Markovitch and his brother-in-law, M. Milkovitz, the minister of the interior, and his daughter, and the war minister.

The first attempted suicide of the Nineteenth century was made on George III of England in May, 1800. The king was shot at by an unknown person while he was driving, but was not injured. The evening of the same day a lunatic made an attempt to kill the king in the theater.

Another ruler subject to assassins' attempts was Emperor William I of Germany. In 1878 he was attacked twice, the first time by Emil H. M. Hoedel, May 11, and the second time June 2 by Dr. Nobeling. In the latter instance he was wounded in the head but not seriously.

Alexander II, czar of Russia, was blown to pieces with nitroglycerine while driving through the streets of St. Petersburg, March 13, 1881.

President Garfield was shot and killed by Guiteau in Washington, July 2, 1881. Guiteau was a disappointed office seeker.

Since the killing of Garfield some of the most important assassinations, many of which are fresh in the public mind, are:

Sadi Carnot, president of France, stabbed by an Italian in Lyons, France, June 24, 1894.

Stanislaus Stambouloff, ex-premier of Bulgaria, killed by four persons armed with revolvers and knives, July 15, 1895.

Nasr-ed-Din, shah of Persia, killed May 1, 1896, as he was entering a shrine near his palace. The man who shot him down was disguised as a woman, and is believed to have been the tool of a band of conspirators. He was caught and suffered the most horrible death that Persian ingenuity could invent.

Antonio Canovas del Castillo, prime minister of Spain, shot to death by Michael Angiolillo, alias Golli, an Italian anarchist, at Santa Agueda, Spain, while going to the baths, August 8, 1897.

Juan Idiarte Borda, president of Uruguay, August 25, 1897, in Montevideo, by Avelino Arrendondo, officer in Uruguayan army.

Jose Maria Reyna Barrios, president of Guatemala, Guatemala City, February 8, 1898, by Oscar Solinger.

Empress Elizabeth of Austria, stabbed in the heart by Leochini, a French-Italian anarchist, in Geneva, Switzerland, while going from her hotel to a boat, September 10, 1898.

Ulisses Heureaux, president of Santo Domingo, shot at Moca, Santo Domingo, July 26, 1899.

Humbert, king of Italy, shot at Monza, Italy, July 29, 1900.

William Goebel, Democratic claimant to the governorship of Kentucky, shot by a person unknown, Tuesday, January 30, 1900, while on his way to the state capitol in Frankfort, Ky.

M. Sipiagin, Russian minister of the interior, shot by a student, April 15, 1902. (Plehve was his successor.)

M. Bogolepoff, Russian minister of education, killed by a student, [illegible] 1901.

William McKinley, president of the United States, shot in Buffalo [illegible] Pan-American exposition [illegible] by Leon Czolgosz, an anarchist. President McKinley died September 14. The assassin was put to death in the electric chair.

Ivanovitch Bobrikoff, governor of Finland, shot by a son of Senator Schaumann, a Finnish patriot, June 16, 1904. Schaumann committed suicide. Bobrikoff died June 17.

M. De Plehve, Russian minister of the interior, killed by a bomb thrown under his carriage June 28, 1904.

The Grand Duke Sergius, uncle of the czar, killed by a bomb thrown under his carriage, February 17, 1905.

TOMBSTONE BLOCKS TRAIL.

From the New York World.

When a truck carrying a granite monument to Calvary cemetery became wedged between the tracks of the Long Island railroad at the Greenpoint crossing in Long Island City yesterday morning irreverent commuters who were locked in trainloads cracked gruesome jokes at the expense of the company.

"Very considerate of the company to erect a tombstone for us," said one old fellow who has lost his front teeth talking back to sassy trainmen. "If I had a mallet and chisel I think I'd register before I starve to death."

"Whose name is on the monument?" asked a curious old lady.

"It doesn't matter," shouted another. "He has the laugh on us, whoever he [illegible]"

Seven extra horses finally pulled the truck out of the rut and traffic was resumed.

NEW BUSINESS BLOCK

C. L. SMITH AND F. E. JOHNSON ERECTING BUILDING.

Pressed Brick Structure at Corner of Cascade Avenue and Cucharas Street.

In line with the renewed activity in building operations that has come with the new year, work of clearing the ground for the erection of a new business block, at the corner of Cascade avenue and Cucharas street, was begun yesterday morning.

The new building, which will represent an investment of about $[illegible], will be of red pressed brick, two stories in height, with a basement. It will contain two store rooms, the one on the corner being planned especially for the Star and Crescent Creamery. The second story will be made into one large room, to be rented for lodge or other purposes. The dimensions of the block are 55 by 85 feet. Construction is to start as soon as the ground is cleared and the excavations completed, and it is expected that the building will be finished before June 1.

The property, which adjoins the building of the Smith Packing company, is owned by C. Louis Smith and Frank E. Johnson, and it is by these men that the improvements are being made. The work is being done by Mr. Johnson of the Newton Lumber company.

VERNER MAKES REPORT

SHOWS MANY IMPROVEMENTS IN WATER SYSTEM.

Department Has Lost Less by Delinquency Than in Any Former Year—Water Is Measured.

The report of Water Superintendent R. J. Verner for the period from May 1, 1907, to January 1, 1908, of the water department, was presented to the council at its regular meeting last night. Mr. Verner reviews the work done by his department [illegible] pressure on the east side [illegible] by connecting [illegible] mains. [illegible] In the protection of the pipe line from the intake of the [illegible] reservoir by the driving of piling, the building of a concrete dam across [illegible] creek to protect the pipe [illegible] complete flushing [illegible] water system in July [illegible] water was abundant.

Meters were installed [illegible] schools, Colorado College and other buildings [illegible] of water used, to save waste and to determine what is due to the city for this service. A large number of new connections were made and larger lines were laid to several public buildings such as St. Francis hospital, to insure better fire protection. Five new mains were put in, necessitating the laying of 8,037 feet of pipe. At a cost of $500, there were [illegible] hydrants repaired [illegible] during the year. Thirty new meters were installed.

There were only 75 turn-offs ordered during the year on account of delinquency and the collections were so close that the city lost less from that cause than in any former year. The defects in the dam of reservoir No. 4 have been repaired and the water has been turned in. The work of ridding Lake Moraine of peat has been prosecuted with vigor—by the use of a gasolife launch and a steam hoist. A system of measuring the amount of water brought into the city mains has been installed and the superintendent can now determine exactly what the service is and where the water is being used.

Hundreds of analyses of water were made during the year by the health department and Superintendent Verner claims that these figures show the water to be absolutely free from germs and to rank higher in purity than any other water in the United States.

MAX FIGMAN CLEVER ACTOR

His Presentation of "The Man on the Box" Furnishes Real Treat to Large Audience.

Max Figman appeared for the second time in this city in "The Man on the Box" at the Opera House last evening. The play is a dramatization of the novel of the same title, and is familiar to almost everybody, telling as it does of a young lieutenant who assumes the position of a coachman for the girl he loves, and then eventually finds a groom and finally a butler, waiting on his former society friends.

Max Figman gave the title role a fine portrayal. His comedy is refined and polished. As Lieutenant Robert Worburton, he has a role which suits his personality perfectly. In the third act, where he is compelled by the young lady to do all sorts of work for her and to mix with his friends as a servant, he is particularly good. His sly touches of humor, the mere raising of an eyebrow or some such facial expression, mean more than all the contortions of the average type of comedian. Mr. Figman, in recent interviews, has often expressed himself as greatly opposed to Ibsen and his characters. One can hardly picture the Figman of last evening as an Ibsen hero with a part, but he has played Ibsen men and played them successfully.

The company was generally good. Some of the same people seen with him last years are still in the company. Fannie Marinoff, the leading lady, as Betty, did acceptable work, but in the last act, her scene with her father was not developed to the fullest possibilities. Count Karloff, as played by John Charles Brownell, was a splendid piece of character work.

Colorado City News

WANTS TO FURNISH WATER

P. P. Shankapaul Makes Proposition to Colorado City—Liquor Ordinance Passed.

Routine business only was transacted at the meeting of the Colorado City council last evening. Reports were given by the city officers and committees.

P. P. Shankapaul made a proposition to the city to furnish the water for the town. He has three reservoirs just outside the county line between El Paso and Teller counties on the Bear Creek canon. He made no definite offer, but put the matter before the council with the assurance that the city could get its water much cheaper than at present. A committee was appointed by the mayor upon the vote of the council, to investigate the matter. The committee is composed of Aldermen Dunbar, Sims and Hinckson.

An ordinance was passed providing a penalty for the selling of liquor without a license. The only other ordinance in regard to this matter refers to saloons, while individuals are not restricted.

The position of night captain was made vacant by vote of the council. John Rowan will continue to hold the position temporarily until a man is definitely decided upon.

The bond of the city treasurer, Fanny Craig, was referred back to the bondsman, as it was not satisfactory.

The matter of giving Chief of Police Gregory a vacation was brought up, and it was decided to give him a month, as he has had no vacation since entering office. This month will cover all time he is supposed to have free from duty during the two years' term.

The question of buying a new fire hose was left over until the next meeting, as was also the matter of fixing a permanent dumping ground. It was decided that the Christian church should pay for 80 feet of the sewerage laid by the city, as there was a slight misunderstanding in regard to the church's share of the expense.

The various reports for the month ending January 31, were read. The city clerk received $248.59 during the month. The city treasurer has $5,276.01 on hand, and after the monthly bills are paid, a balance of about $3,000 will remain in the treasury. The police department made a total of 100 arrests during the month, and the fire department answered three calls and one false alarm. The mounted police fed 259 people.

Cigar Logic

Is nowhere more apparent than in the LOUIS K Cigar, made by the National Cigar Stands company. This company handles the output of several of the largest factories in this country and in Cuba, and gives the highest cigar value.

Small cigar companies cannot put out a cigar of equal value for the money, buying as they do in a small way and paying middlemen profits.

A trial will convince you.

STOCK MARKET HEAVY

DUE TO SUSPENDED INTEREST ON PART OF SPECULATORS.

Dissemination of Rumors in Reckless Fashion Incident of the Day. Railroads Unsettled.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The dull and heavy tone of the stock market today was due largely to suspended interest on the part of speculators and investors alike. The weakness of the early part of the session was clearly due to activity on the part of a professional element on the short side of the market and this selling was partly covered by repurchases before the end of the session. Beyond this demand from the uncovered short interest, there was little sign of any absorptive power.

The dissemination of rumors in a rather reckless fashion was an incident of the day which was laid at the door of the bearish activities. Anonymous telephone messages to bank depositors to awaken their anxiety and to prompt withdrawals was a feature that came into notice on Saturday and prompted some indignant discussions. The successful closing up last week of four smaller banks seems to have suggested this motive of attack, but the publication of the matter was reported today to have robbed it of its powers for any harm.

Very bold and damaging assertions were circulated today concerning the finances of the Rock Island and transverse line in many of the securities of the company, including the stocks both of the parent and the subsidiary companies and the collateral bonds secured by old Rock Island stock and those secured by St. Louis and San Francisco stock. The mortgage bonds of the companies in the system were but slightly affected. Officials of the company and bankers associated in its financial operations denied that there was any ground for the rumors of embarrassment.

The unsupported condition of the securities, however, had a depressing effect on the whole list. The financial effect of the Portuguese tragedy seemed to be confined largely to the Paris bourse and had little reflection here. There was, in fact, some purchase of stocks here for foreign accounts. There was not enough of this to prevent a sharp reaction in the foreign exchange market, which quieted the discussion of a possible early outward movement of gold. A shipment of $500,000 in gold to Argentina reported late on Saturday, was explained as a special transaction. A loss by the banks on Saturday of $[illegible] of subtreasury operations was caused by a payment to the government of a maturing note of the Central Pacific in the periodical settlement of the old Pacific railroad debt. Payment of subscriptions on St. Paul new stock called for $[illegible]. The money market was not perceptibly affected by these developments.

Railroad traffic officials had no increase in business to report, but some growth of hopefulness over early revival of traffic was discernible in their weekly reviews given for publication.

A decline in the price of copper at the New York metal exchange and also in the price of London copper warrants was but lightly reflected in the prices of copper industrial and mining stocks. The United States Steel stocks also were relatively little affected by the generally heavy tone. The probable direction to be taken by political activities in the approaching presidential canvass claims a growing share of attention in the financial district and emphasized the indisposition towards large operations in the market.

The bond market was weak. The Rock Island collateral bonds forming the conspicuous instance. Total sales, par value, $2,750,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHEAT CLOSES STEADY

MARKET STRENGTHENED BY INCREASED DEMAND.

May Delivery Closes a Shade Higher. Corn Market Firm—Oats Higher—Provisions Lower.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Firm cables and higher prices for cash wheat in the principal markets of this country had a strengthening effect today on the local wheat market. The May delivery closed a shade higher; corn was up ¼c; oats were ¼ higher, provisions were 2½ to 12½ lower.

The wheat market was extremely nervous during the first hour, but in the latter half of the session the market was much steadier and sentiment was inclined to be bullish. An advance of ¾d at Liverpool caused a fair advance at the opening, but this gain was lost at the end of the first 15 minutes on selling by longs, which was based on a free northwestern movement, an increase of 2,600 bushels in the amount on passage and liberal world's shipments. Reports received late in the day from outside markets, claiming a much better demand for cash wheat at generally higher prices, strengthened the market just before the close. The market closed steady. May opened ⅛@¼ to ⅜@½ higher at 94¾ to 95⅛, sold up to 95½ and closed at 95. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 471,100 bushels. The visible supply decreased 686,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 707,000 bushels against 458,000 bushels on the corresponding day last year.

Corn was weak early in the day because of the decline in wheat, but the market soon rallied and continued firm. Prospects of a lighter movement, small country offerings and an excellent demand for cash corn were the bullish influences. The close was firm. May opened a shade to ⅛@⅜ higher at 59 to 59⅛, sold off to 58⅞ and then advanced to 59⅛. The close was at 59⅛@59¼. Local receipts were 138 cars, with none of contract grade.

Trade in oats was very light and the market was largely influenced by wheat and corn. May opened firm, sold off to 50@50¾ and advanced to 51½. The close was at 51⅛. Local receipts 124 cars.

The feature of the trade in provisions was the selling by local packers, which caused moderate weakness. A liberal increase in the world's stock of lard for the month was a bearish factor. At the close, May pork was down 7½@10c at $12.00; lard was off 12½c at $7.56; ribs were 2½c lower at $6.52½.

NEW SHAFT IS SUNK

GOOD GRADE OF ORE MINED FROM PROPER CLAIM.

Shipment Sent Out Expected to Run $20 in Gold to the Ton—Outlook Considered Excellent.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, February 3.—The Union Leasing company, which has been operating a lease on the Proper claim belonging to the Stratton estate, located on the northeast slope of Gold hill, has shipped out a car of ore that will probably give returns close to $20 in gold to the ton. This company shipped considerable ore of a good value from a shaft, which was sunk to a depth of 200 feet, where a vein seven to nine feet was exposed. This shoot was worked out and the operating company went to the surface and started to sink another shaft on a vein which was outcropping. This new shaft has been sunk to an approximate depth of 55 feet, and a vein about three feet wide has been uncovered, from which shipments are now being made. This lease is a paying proposition, and work is being pushed as fast as possible. It is believed that the vein found at the surface is something entirely new to the property, and as the value of the rock is increasing with depth, the outlook is considered to be extremely good.

ORE RUNS $50 TO TON

GOOD RETURNS FROM FOREST QUEEN PROPERTY.

Thousands Were Expended by Chicago Capitalists Before Pay Ore Was Found.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Roach and company, operating a lease on the Forest Queen, on Ironclad hill, adjoining the W. P. H., Jerry Johnson and other well-known producers of this vicinity, shipped out four cars of ore Saturday that will give average values of $50 in gold to the ton. This company is now consigning several cars of ore a week to the mills in the valley towns, and the shoots, which have been opened on the 500 and 600-foot levels, are both producing. The shoot is larger and carries higher values on the 500-foot level, where the shoot is from nine to 15 feet in width. This shoot has been opened up for a considerable distance.

The Forest Queen property is in better physical condition today than it has been for many months. Roach and company are Chicago capitalists, who invested a good many thousands of dollars before they ever secured a pound of ore. This money is now being made back, and the indications are that by the end of the present year a nice surplus will be the result of the venture.

NEW SAMPLER RECORD

21,000 TONS TREATED BY THE EAGLE COMPANY.

Value of Ore Handled Past Month, Tonnage Considered, Was Unusually High.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—The tonnage treated by the Eagle Ore company at its plant near the town of Goldfield, during the month just brought to a close, was 21,000 tons. This is the record for samplers operating in the Cripple Creek district, and the Eagle company lost three shifts during the month of January on account of stopping for repairs of machinery.

Of this tremendous amount of ore treated, there is one particular thing regarding it, and that is, despite the fact that there is a large amount of low-grade ore being treated, the general average value of the ore that went through the Eagle sampler was $20 in gold to the ton. Eliminating the values of the ore of the camp, and taking all ore sent to the mills and samplers in the valley towns, the average value of the ore was $26.30 in gold to the ton. This record has, it is believed, never before been equaled, tonnage considered.

FEBRUARY GOOD MONTH

TONNAGE WILL BE CLOSE TO THAT OF JANUARY.

Between Ninety and a Hundred Cars of Ore Are Being Sent to the Mills Every Day.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—From present indications the tonnage for the month of February will be very heavy, and will compare favorably with the month of January, which established a record for any similar 31 days during the past four years. February will be short two days, but there is a vast amount of ore already broken down waiting to be sampled and taken to the mill or smelters. The railroads are having a hard time supplying cars and new crews have been put to work on both the broad and narrow gauge roads. Every 24 hours there are on an average of 90 to 100 cars of ore hauled to the mills and smelters. Men are anxious for leases and several new ones will undoubtedly be started up early this month, which will help to increase the amount of ore now being sent out. Cripple Creek has taken on new life, and the mining industry is rushing, and many lessees are making handsome sums of money.

NEEDED REFORMS IN THE PURCHASE OF SUPPLIES

From "New Business Standards at Washington—Work of the Keep Commission," by C. H. Forbes-Lindsay, in the Review of Reviews.

It would naturally be supposed that in an institution purchasing supplies in such enormous quantities as does our government the patent opportunities for economy and standardization would be embraced. Such has not, however, been the case. Each department—and, in cases, a separate bureau of division—advertizes independently for what it needs, and contracts at a price without knowledge or regard for what the same goods are costing other branches of the government or private corporations. A certain mucilage costs one department $1.84 per dozen quarts and another $2 per dozen quarts. The prices of the same make of pencils range from $2.27 per gross to $3.36 per gross. The cost of ice varies from 12 to 30 cents per 100 pounds, and no two departments contract for coal at the same figures. It should be borne in mind that articles of small unit value are consumed in quantities that represent hundreds of thousands of dollars, and the aggregate bills of the government for such ordinary supplies run into the millions yearly.

No attempt whatever has been made to standardize supplies, so that 124 varieties of pencils, 28 kinds of ink, 263 different styles penpoints, and all sorts of typewriter ribbon, are used in the various government offices. Hardly any check is placed upon waste or peculation. It would seem that every employe of the government in Washington, from cabinet minister to colored messenger, uses twenty-three pencils each month, or, say, a total of 7,115,000 pencils a year, at a cost of $120,000.

THE manufacturers have striven to make the Peerless Touring Car the most comfortable, most reliable and most easily managed of American cars. It was already the most simple.

To this end a few changes have been made in the 1908 model. The springs have been lengthened and flattened and are now made in France of the most resilient material known for the purpose—silico-manganese steel. A double ignition system is also used in this model which prevents any trouble from poor ignition.

has all the good points of other models and many more of its own
